

WHO IS REPRIMANDED?

National Guardsmen Meditating on the Result of the Hogan Court Martial.
The decision of the court martial called at the instance of Lieut.-Col. Wm. De Lucy of the Sixty-ninth Regiment to try Capt. Patrick K. Hogan of Company C was promulgated yesterday. It had been awaited with interest, because one question before the court was virtually whether one military officer has a right to call another a liar in an armory or not. The court reprimands the accused for calling his brother officer a liar, but Gen. Shaler's order promulgating the decision deals in such a way with the complainant and with Col. Cavanagh that the friends of Capt. Hogan call the result a virtual acquittal. Lieut.-Col. De Lucy's friends say that he has carried his point. Col. Cavanagh said, when he read the order, "Well, it looks as if I had been on trial."

Capt. Hogan's counsel, Capt. Hugh Colman, was jubilant over the results. He said: "I broke two of the charges, and the order reprimanding publicly Capt. Hogan, requiring him to resign, the Colonel commanding and his officers who preferred the charges." Capt. Hogan is ordered to resume his sword and report for duty. Said he last night among a select circle of friends: "It's glad it's no worse; it's never been so bad. I have no anxiety. They and my friends had an idea I was going to be shot."

Gen. Shaler, in reviewing and approving the decision, which ordered that Capt. Hogan be reprimanded publicly, says that the scope in the armory which gave rise to the trial was not a sword, but a pistol. Capt. Hogan appears in uniform to precede on verbal orders from Col. Cavanagh, at an election for a Lieutenant of Company C. Lieut.-Col. De Lucy, who was present, says that he was finding Capt. Hogan in the chair, addressed his superior rank. Col. Cavanagh says that before and after the appearance of the Colonel, Capt. Hogan had addressed to Lieut.-Col. De Lucy an angry speech to the court in its decision and sentence. "It is to be regretted," says Gen. Shaler, "that Capt. Hogan's expression gained the upper hand, and that the order immediately adds, Capt. Hogan was not allowed to prevent his very reprehensible conduct on that occasion."
